Costs & Payment Schedule FAQs:

- When are the Program Charge payments, tuition and airfare due?
  - Please see the payment schedule listed above.
- What if I am a recipient of financial aid and/or scholarships and cannot make these payment deadlines on time?
  - If you are a recipient of financial aid and/or scholarships and intend to use this money to help pay for the program charge payments and/or the group flight, the program coordinator needs to know so that your payments can be deferred to the date that financial aid and/or scholarships will be disbursed into your account. The Financial Aid office usually has a disbursement date ranging from May 10th to 15th. For the exact date, please check the Bursar's office calendar.
- How do I set up a deferral with the Oxford Program so that I can use my financial aid in making my program payments?
  - To set up a deferral with the Oxford Program, you must first notify the program coordinator, so she can send you the blank promissory note.
  - Once you have the form filled out, please send your Summer 2022 award letter and your completed promissory note to the program coordinator (Andrea Henriquez – andrea.henriquez@oie.gatech.edu). If your award letter has yet to be updated to reflect the cost of your participation on the Oxford Program for Summer 2022, simply send an older version of an award letter along with a note explaining the amount that you expect to receive for the summer you are participating.
  - The deadline to send both of these documents in order to receive a payment deferral is January 28th, 2022.

4. What exactly does setting up a deferral mean? How will it change my payment schedule?
  - a. If you are participating on the group flight, you will owe a total of $14,456 to the Oxford Program, but $500 of that has already been paid with your initial program deposit, so the remaining amount due for Program Charge + Airfare = $13,956. Tuition is charged separately by the Bursar, not the Oxford Program. Below are a few airfare/program charge payment schedule examples if you are using financial aid:
    - i. $1,956 for the group flight + $12,000 remaining for the program charge
      1. If you receive less money than the total program charge + airfare cost for a semester on the Oxford Program, the program coordinator will only defer a portion of your program charge payments until the date that financial aid is disbursed in May.
        - a. *If for example you receive $5,500.00 in financial aid/scholarships, your new payment schedule after your deferral will be as follows:
          - i. February 1, 2022: $6,000 due for the 1st program charge payment
          - ii. February 15, 2022: $500 due for the 2nd program charge payment and $1,956 due for airfare (if participating in the group flight)
          - iii. Financial Aid disbursement date: $5,500 is due to cover the 2nd program charge balance
        2. If you receive more money than the total program charge + airfare cost for a semester on the Oxford Program, you can defer all of your payments until the date financial aid is disbursed in May.
          - a. *If for example you receive more than $14,000 in financial aid/scholarships, your new payment schedule after your deferral will be as follows:
            - i. February 1st, 2022: $0 due for the 1st program charge
            - ii. February 15th, 2022: $0 due for the 2nd program charge payment and airfare
            - iii. Financial Aid disbursement date: $13,956 is due to cover the program charge and group airfare balance.
      - b. *Remember, the above situations are only describing how financial aid can be used to cover the program charge & airfare. This does not factor in tuition payments as those are assessed separately by GT. You may use HOPE/Zell to cover your tuition payments if you are eligible to receive these scholarships in Summer 2022, but remember that tuition costs are in addition to the program charge and airfare payments.
  5. Do I need to let the Financial Aid Office know that I am participating on the Oxford Program?
    - a. No, they will be notified by OIE of your participation on the Oxford Program once you have been officially accepted to the program; you do not need to do anything to inform them of your participation. However, you do need to apply for financial aid/scholarships as you usually do (Summer 2022 is included in the 2021 – 2022 academic year).
  6. Do I need to let the Oxford Program know that I will be using the Zell Miller/ HOPE scholarship to pay for tuition?
    - a. No. The HOPE/Zell Miller Scholarships are used to pay for tuition which is charged directly by the Bursar and not the Oxford Program. The Oxford Program does not need to know if you will be using HOPE/Zell to pay for tuition. The Oxford Program is only concerned with the program charge and group flight costs. The Oxford Program has no control over when tuition payments are due and cannot defer these payments for you.

7. What will happen if I do not notify the program coordinator that I am deferring my payment (s) before the deadline?
  - a. If you do not notify the program coordinator about your deferral and send her a copy of your most recent award letter as well as a completed promissory note by January 28th, 2022, the program coordinator will not know to defer your payments, which could result in the bursar's office placing a hold for late payment on your account. So, please make sure to turn in your promissory note if you need payments deferred.

8. What is the total estimated cost of attendance to participate on the Oxford Program?
  - a. The total estimated cost for a student is $20,942.16
  - b. Please see the chart on the next page for a complete breakdown.
